Cameron joined the agency's sales staff in 1998. Previously, he was a commercial underwriter for the Cincinnati Insurance Company. In 2005, he earned his Chartered Property Casualty Underwriter (CPCU) designation.

Cameron provides insurance to businesses, non-profit organizations, families and individuals - specializing in group and niche marketing of personal and commercial insurance.

Whether a commercial or personal account, Cameron focuses on the value of the customer's time. "People want answers to their questions and they want them now." Through the many available conduits of communication in the 21st Century, he recognizes that the client will dictate how and when business is to be done.

In the community, Cameron serves as the Chairman of the Board of the Children's Dyslexia Centers of Cincinnati, a non-profit dedicated to childhood literacy. He is also a very active Freemason, having held offices including Master of his Lodge, Society of Past Masters, The Ohio Consistory, Ohio Master Travelers and many more.

Cameron is also happily married and the father of one. He and his family reside in Warren County, Ohio near the town of Morrow.
